ABOUT CELA

CELA (Composers Ensemble, Los Angeles) is a co-op ensemble made up of the 12 principal instruments of the standard symphony orchestra: a string quintet, woodwind quartet, and brass trio.

Begun as a lab group in 1998 for professional players/composers to hone various musical skills, it has matured into a unique chamber ensemble which composes, conducts, and plays all of its own music, with styles as far-ranging and interesting as the 12 members themselves. No doubt you have already heard their individual composing/arranging/conducting/playing skills, as CELA's members have credits across the spectrum of the film, television, concert and recording industries, with a smattering of Emmy and Grammy nominations to boot.

Come experience a fascinating evening that ranges all the way from classical and dramatic chamber music to jazz and pop.
